Agape Love

By Marilyn Lyon

Agape Love

Agape Love; unconditional love, a perfect feat of balance. Not just a state of mind, but a state of doing. One we often dream of obtaining. One, we can easily assume we live in naturally. Seems most of us do not get the opportunity to practice it.

I could mourn the crack addiction. I could pray for it to leave. I could try to contribute to its death. I could pretend it was not here, year after year, or that it might always be here.

Maybe even that death might take it away, as well as my son, or that there is and was a quick and easy answer.

What I could do is share with him the place I reached after many years of both our failures. I could give us both a relationship, of sorts. It could be called Agape Love, although at the time I called it my program for surviving my pain.

Eventually some inner belief planted itself that he could find an answer one of these next times. Then the new uplifting knowledge that each time he tried and failed, he could start again from where he left off the last time he...

Chapter 8

I sat down after Christmas Day and wrote this to my son.

--- Everyone in the family wants you to know we are here if you need us. This is not just your problem, it is our problem together. We are all experiencing 'the crack crap' as well as the emotional and mental dysfunction it causes.

--- We do not know everything but we know enough. We do not have the answer or answers. We will constantly seek for them or it. We stumble and falter and briefly give up. But we get back up and begin again.

--- Our support may seem meaningless to you especially as we travel further along in this and try and choose the support in areas we have learned is not helpful to you. Our support will have to come in your faith that it is there, and it does mean something.

--- We have made mistakes collectively and individually. We believe in the successes not the failures. Divine intervention needs its place, not just when all else fails, but to believe that there is an answer.

--- I felt very much alone writing this. I needed to write it. I knew the family in their hearts did feel this way, but had really given up on him. Why then could not I?

--- I also found George Medzerian's book. It opened a door inside me that would allow me to continue being a partner in my son's fight with crackcocaine. It gave me a role and function, which made sense. A way I could live with his crack-crap.

The Last Page

--- Is there one simple cure or program? At the moment no. Maybe there never will be. Crackheads are complicated substance abusers. We are people, mostly women with some primitive instincts, which can force us into a heart-mode separating artistically every single aspect of life not related to a problem we insist on solving with the sheer, will of just our heart. My daughter said I helped. So- it was GOD, he says! He is not denying all the other things but...Todd said he was so terrified of the feeling, the overwhelming lure of that future moment he was sure no matter how many sponsors or books or meetings or memorizing of triggers or help of any kind- he could not resist.

--- It was a lot of things, least of all the right time. Time to collect-time to understand-time to hurt too much-but what I wanted above all...

The Crack Conqueror

This book contains a spiritually supported detoxification format for the process of decontaminating your body, soul and spirit from the possession of crack cocaine.

Copyright © DVC Ministry

Smoking crack cocaine will destroy everything you have ever thought, felt, desired, loved or believed in.

It is not in any religion that an answer can be found. Answers start to formulate when we develop a relationship with printed words of powerful healing truths; scriptures from the Holy Bible are where they can be found.

Nothing gets in the way of crack cocaine once it has possession. Standard treatment does not address the extreme possession that does occur during crack cocaine use.

Feeling possessed by the crack-bite is the loneliest, darkest, sickest, most ugly gnawing and truly captivating all consuming demonic place to be.

This booklet is in a format that without a doubt saved my life. When I was jotting down all these notes, I had no idea it would come to this. As we know God has weird ways to get us where HE wants us to be whether we want to be there or not. HIS way works.

Each day away from crack cocaine brings us closer to being completely free from crack. With a true desire and the understanding where this stuff is really coming from and its only mission to destroy; this understanding and desire will bring you the strength necessary for success.

How the 75 Day Program Works

This program may take more than once to fully detoxify the possession of crack cocaine from your soul.

- 1. NOT following the rules and instructions exactly as described in this program will directly affect the outcome and results of learning how to squash the crack cocaine urges.
- 2. Believe crack cocaine is the devils candy and act like it.
- 3. Understand and accept this is a spiritual battle for your soul.
- 4. Learn the crack-attacking scriptures, and attack crack with them.
- 5. Carry the 75 Day Booklet with you at ALL times. No excuse's not to.

6. Practicing faith and earning trust are essential components in our actions, words, willingness to change and being able to see those results.

7. We expect and accept anything that works to attack crack only.

8. Do not be ashamed or shy about saying the powerful words of healing truths in this booklet loud enough for anyone to hear, including the enemy.

9. Spend more time doing this 75 Day Program a day than thinking, searching, lying, conniving or anything else going towards or about crack cocaine.

10. Do not go ahead. Stay on the day you are on. You may go back to a different day to find power over crack cocaine, but DO NOT GO FORWARD. After the first time through this book, if a second, third or more times are needed, then you can use any day that helps after doing the days in order (like the first time through), then using any other day after for extra power.

11. Get really pissed-off at crack cocaine. Get so angry it will be okay to yell at crack cocaine. Go ahead and yell at crack. Try it and start attacking crack.

12. Commit to God's word and to this 75 Day Program until you're free from crack cocaine possession forever. This program will work when you work it. It has never failed me and it will not fail you. You can fail the program but the program will NOT fail you.

13. REMEMBER: Stopping the madness of smoking crack cocaine sometimes gets worse before it gets better. Knowing this helps in how long it will take for you to get serious about finding a life crack free! The stranglehold from crack cocaine tightens before it loosens, especially now that this journey has begun.

Crack cocaine can be conquered and destroyed forever!

Let your journey begin!

CRACKHEAD

A Survivor

Over the years of our Ministry I have reached out to offer help to quite a few people. Along the way I have told bits and pieces of my story. Recently, I have felt compelled to share my own crack cocaine journey, in the hope that it might help others. I realized this would be a daunting task if I were to tell all; one that would require me to expose old wounds and re-live painful events. Events, that I had been determined to put behind me.

When you are finished reading this book, you will understand that crack cocaine is not just an addiction. Crack cocaine is an entity. A truly evil entity with a mission to kill the user and destroy all those they love.

Scattered within these pages is an arsenal filled with weapons, tools and armor. Gather them up, they just might make the difference between life and death.

You may think it is hopeless, but hope anyway. You may think you are losing, but never ever surrender. Believe me you can win this battle. My family is living proof. You can not only win the battle, but together we will win the war! What a sight, an entire army of ex crack addicts and their battle weary loved ones....a blessed people traveling out of the darkness into the light. Survivors all, moving towards the lives they have fought so hard to live.

This is my survival story.....

...Yours is waiting to be written.

That evening when I got home from work I called Todd. We hit it off immediately and talked for a full three hours! We talked about many things but mostly about my life, my daughter, my ex-husband and a little bit about his life. Finally, I said, “Do you want to meet?”

That would be my first date in seven years!

As I walked through the door I tried not to hyperventilate, I spotted Todd right away. The first thing came to my mind was oh my gosh!...he is so tiny. How in the world am I going to get out of this?

As he stood at the bar paying for our drinks, I did notice his nicely shaped butt ... (sorry could not help myself had to put that in).

When we got in the car he kissed me... the sweetest, deepest, most passionate kiss I have ever felt in my life. Oh, that kiss... I melted into his mouth! I got butterflies in my stomach. It took my breath away. There has never been any man in my life that brought those feelings to me.

As the night was winding down, Todd told me he was facing jail time for retail fraud (stealing) and that he once had a crack cocaine problem. I remember thinking to myself, oh great... the first man whose kisses gave me butterflies is going to jail. What great luck I have!

I fully expected to end the relationship, which in my mind, really hadn't begun. I only saw him twice before he started to serve his time.

I had never even seen the inside of a jail before. The only jail cell or prisoners I had seen were on TV. I was so curious, I went to visit him. What a pathetic sight! This same man, who only a few days before had me in a flutter was staring back at me through a glass window.

Recalling the events of how crack entered my life was difficult. I had put all this behind me and moved on. I had asked God to give me peace over the crack hell and He did. Now I asked God to bring these memories back.

My first experience with crack happened a few weeks after Todd got out of jail

I was all ready for bed when he pulled up and knocked on the door (which became the famous 'crack knock' we all have heard). Todd walks in and holds me tight for a long time it seemed, and then he walked into the living room and sat in a corner chair. Who is this man?

He was dirty, he was unshaved, pasty looking, thinner and smelled.

He spoke so soft I could barely hear him. "I did it again...I went right back to it." I said did what?

"Crack cocaine...I did it again, 13 months in jail did not stop me and I hurt my Grandma...I dragged her into crack... I cannot believe it!"

The first major incident I can recall is a time Todd stole my car while I was asleep. Todd was out on a binge. While I was driving my dad's car to drop my dad off at his favorite bar, I spotted Todd in my car. I chased him all through town going 90 miles an hour in residential streets with my baby sitting next to me in the seatbelt because her car seat was in my car.

The second major recall was well after the pattern of getting paid, disappear smoking crack, begging to come back, I am sorry and here we are broke, again. He had stolen from me and my parents, once again broke his dad's heart, digging himself into the fires of the crack hell.

I had every intention to not see him again. I was DONE again! ENOUGH was enough!

I knew in my heart I had to fight this crack, it cannot win and ohhh the fight it gave.

The truth will set you free from crack. What do Todd and I teach? EXPOSE the crack lies and you will gain power over crack cocaine. This is the answer of how to get the enemy within out.

TELL THE TRUTH ABOUT CRACK COCAINE, then you will be set free and no longer be a slave to it.

Crack cocaine can be conquered!

Believing God's best to you always,

DEVIL'S CANDY

BY TODD GIBSON

IT IS JUST AS IT WAS AND WILL ALWAYS BE JUST AS IT IS.

I have put down on paper words that helped me eliminate crack cocaine from my life.

The journeys that crack took me on, ended up being many blessings. It exposed me to the evil side of life.

I had a relentless desire to smoke crack at any and all expense. I did this no matter what, no matter who, no matter how, no matter why, no matter when, no matter where, no matter...it was truly a horrible passion.

When I finally looked at crack cocaine as an actual force, I concluded that this is by far more than just substance abuse or addiction. This is when I was finally able to fight the tremendous pull crack cocaine has on one's soul and spirit.

For a long time, a very long and terrible time I was caught up in the revolving treatment doors and the revolving jail doors. Both kept my life spinning for many years of misery and despair and the absolute feeling of no hope of ever ridding oneself from the power of crack.

If one would put as much effort into being clean and understanding the road ahead as we did in chasing the candy, everyone could quit. Reality says that a majority will not put that same effort into getting clean and staying clean.

The process of getting clean from crack cocaine sucks. Not the end results but the process. All the crack-crap that has trailed you from crack use comes up and takes a chunk out of your crack-ass!

Jail really sucked. I sat all day doing nothing except listening to all the jail-talk. Yada, Yada, Yada...and on and on and on, waiting for an opening. Three weeks went by, still just listening all day doing nothing.

All the stories, news and crime associated with crack are at times very dark. Other times, so unbelievable it makes me cringe when thinking about all the horrible things I did just to smoke crack-cocaine. The seriousness of crack has whittled down to $5.00.

Hope is about all there is when it comes to a true crackhead.

When you are fully contaminated and in the midst of despair, anything or just something could help. Doing nothing won't. Because it is so spiritually binding, I know it becomes a spiritual battle.

Without the sacrifice of being safe with safe people and the desire for faith and of trust, and doing whatever it takes to have these things, otherwise the desire to smoke crack will deceive you and destroy all that stands in its path.

Every crackhead has a smoking pattern. It starts way before the crackling sound fills the bubble and starts the journey to Crackville, USA.

It is far beyond anyone's wildest idea how strong the pull of crack is.

You will always be a crackhead!

Not Me!

Faith is the trigger for God's awesome power. Without faith, you might as well forget it. When His time is right He will bring you out. As a matter of fact He will shine His flashlight right in your face! If your heart is right and your faith in check, the realization that smoking crack is not what God wants you to be doing will manifest whether you want it to or not.

I find power and relief in the printed word, in both reading and writing, more in the writing than the reading. When my despair was below hitting bottom, I started writing anything that came to mind.

The first scripture that I read that actually felt real and that it might be true or at least I was desperately hoping could be true was Psalm 34. I was living in a rat and cockroach infested rooming hotel. Every drug addict, pimp and easy crack babe were no further than 50 feet away at any given moment.

It was years later that I was finally crack-free!

How much joy can I express in printed words that describe the ultimate high in life...to play music that moves the soul and spirit; a lifelong dream since I was 6 years old.

The year of 2002 was the year a life long dream was fulfilled. I recorded a CD in my new basement on my home computer recording studio that I am very proud of. The melodies are soothing harmonic melodies. Some originated from right in the midst of the crack despair and hoping to find some peace.

At the age of 29 I smoked crack. Playing guitar was not on life's list anymore. I pawned my one prize possession in life...my 1958 double cut away Sunburst finish with circle fret marks Gibson ES-330 or 335, I am not positive which number exactly, but it was a dream guitar bought by my parents for my 11th birthday from just a guy going to Vietnam and was so sad to sell it. They bought it for $150. I pawned it for the last time for $75, to smoke crack, and I never was able to get it back.

And still more treatment. How many is enough? Why can't I stop smoking crack? Is it because of what I am told as far as not following all the 'treatment' steps and traditions and not making it work? Or is it because this stuff called the "Devil's Candy" is more than just an addiction or just plain substance abuse? So what is it? How do I stop?

I wish I had one word or one program or one sentence or one example or one scripture or one anything that I could say or tell that would stop the madness of smoking crack cocaine.

The despair is so en-lodged in one's spirit, it is only unlocked by God's grace and mercy. Here we find true peace and can get all the defenses we will need to battle an enemy willing to go to any length to contaminate your soul, or run airplanes into towers filled with people.

What – To – Believe.....Who – To – Follow?

Just thinking of all the wasted time on smoking crack-cocaine is staggering.

There does come a time when crack cocaine does not dominate your entire mind. It could take some time to get there.

When the family structure decays from crack, this is the casting of the crew. You are being picked for a performance. By destroying the family, our strength and structure are seriously diminished. This allows the 'candy' to appear so sweet. The instant wow this is so intensely good.....and the race is now on.

Crack cocaine LOVES you...

Crack cocaine is sick...

Crack Cocaine is disgusting...

Crack cocaine is...

And EVERYONE TOGETHER.....

.....is pissin me off!
